Patented Water Jet + Pulsating Dental Floss

INTRODUCING the greatest evolution in personal dental hygiene since the introduction of water jet irrigators in 1962.

After years of intense research and development, we are proud to announce the greatest evolution in personal dental hygiene since the introduction of water jet irrigators in 1962. Our Jetpik team of top biomedical, mechanical and electronic engineering experts have collaborated their extreme talents to develop the most advanced home dental care system ever.

Using an ingenious combination of water jet power and pulsating dental floss, the Jetpik state-of-the-art design effectively removes food debris, plaque and bacteria trapped between teeth, around braces and below the gum lines. The Jetpik has been clinically proven to be twice as effective at cleaning teeth than water flossing alone.

Jetpik remains dedicated to designing and producing the most effective, technically sophisticated cleaning systems to help maintain the best oral health possible. We are pleased and excited to now make this groundbreaking technology available for home use by the general public.
