WHITE HOUSE SECURITY: UGHABLE

It seems that this head of security, head of the Secret Service, if she had done a decent job, no one could condemn her or criticize her, as they are now, as they have which has forced her to resign yesterday. It is a terrible job that she's done while heading up the most important policing force in the world. And to say these sort of breaches will never happen again, that we've learned the lessons better, is just hogwash. This sort of security breach should NEV-ER have happened. By admitting as much as she has, as the department has, they are only admitting to their own incompetence. It is clear now to everyone she is ignorant of how to handle White House security and she's unfit for the job. Period. There is no defense for her, those under her or the end result. I was going to call for her resignation, call for her head. Absolutely. But she took the pleasure away as she resigned. She probably realized how abominable a job she did and called it quits under the scrutiny and pressure that came to bear. But, frankly, she shouldn't have been I in that position in the first place. She wasn't qualified. Plain and simple.

She put the White House and the president in danger, time after time. She didn't do her job properly and her officers didn't do their job properly. It was a total collapse of competence and confidence. They should all go. Or undergo severe retraining. We hire so many security officers to watch the White House and its famous occupant. But every time some breach happens, they seems to be on a break of some sort. What is this? This is an insult to the American people. Even the democrats who backed Obama and some of his imbecilic moves are laughing at the situation that they're all in, that we're all in. And it's too serious to laugh. Between Obama and Bush, we've had back to back the two worst presidents in the history of America, the latter worse than the former. for sure. Who remembers every one saying, especially the democrats, no one could be worse than Bush. Well, they went and found someone. And this is terrible for America. The world is looking and laughing at us. Because we can't put ourselves together and use the greatness of this country to elect decent, at least decent leaders. It's a shame.

Look at Vietnam telling the world what beautiful cities they've got there now. Yes, maybe they do. But put there and built on the backs of American money and America's dead soldiers and on the shoulders of America, but we get none of the recognition. Our kids died there, for no good reason - it's all political. So what I would like to see is what you have to say about our world, our politicians and Nassau County; about impeachment, which would be a fair way to get rid of some of these thieves. Impeachment: let's hear from you. Don't be afraid. Chime in on these terrible politicians we have here, forcing our kids away with the school taxes and the political double-talk and high insurance prices and bribes and stealing in the form of multiple pensions. Let me hear from you out there, I know so many of you have an opinion. Use the Tribune to let vour voices be heard. Write or email me. Let me Know.

Over 800 Girls Need Adult Volunteers—Join Girl Scouts To Inspire Tomorrow's Leaders

Girl Scouts of Nassau County

Whether you have a daughter, sister, niece, granddaughter, cousin or just a great friend, the girl in your life needs Girl Scouting and Girl Scouts of Nassau County needs you! There are 800 girls currently looking for a Troop to be formed. For every Troop, there a needs for a Troop leader, a volunteer, a role model for each and every Daisy, Brownie, Junior, Cadet, Senior and Ambassador from whom to learn new skills and learn something special about them-

Girl Scout volunteers open up doors that will shape the lives of dozens of girls at a time. Whether you're a man or woman with - or without — scouting experience, there's always room for more volunteers.

At Girl Scouts of Nassau County we serve approximately 20,000 girls in Nassau County. Each girl learns, explores and make strides — all with friends by her side. The moment when a Girl Scout tries something new, anything from robotics to business management, can be the moment she discovers something amazing about herself. We want to reach more girls than ever before, but in order to do that. we need more volunteers.

All that matters is the desire to be a part of helping girls grow to become women of courage, confidence and character. Ninety-four percent of Girl Scout Volunteers

By: Donna Ceravolo, CEO of and ninety-seven percent of members believe Girl Scouts provides them with new, fun and exciting experiences. With more than 800 girls searching for a Troop in their community, you can be the one to make the difference!

I urge the community, including mothers, fathers, college students and anyone who has an interest in participating to consider volunteering as a Troop Leader and joining over 7.000 adult members of GSNC who are making a significant difference in the lives of young women every day.

Troop Leaders are a quintessential part of our organization. By volunteering as a Troop Leader, you are given the ability to change a life. GSNC provides girls with a place to build confidence, learn and have fun with their peers, and it also provides Troop Leaders with the opportunity to share an unforgettable time with their daughter, neighbors and the community while making connections with other like-minded volunteers.

Above all else, remember, time as a Girl Scout will be a positive part of thousands of girls' lives. They will carry these memories with them forever, and you could be the one that makes it happen, the one who helps us build the confidence and character of the next generations of amazing young women. Share the memories with your daughter; it's a chance to bond, teach and learn together.

Let's get more girls in Nassau County exploring, imagining and realizing their own unique gifts. To join or volunteer, please visit our website at www.girlscouts.org/join.

- VATICAN CITY - Pope Francis implored the world last week to "respect the elderly" and celebrate the wealth of wisdom that senior citizens exemplify. Speaking at a ceremony at Vatican City on Sunday, the 77 yearold pontiff put it bluntly: ... A nation that fails its elderly is a people with no future. As his predecessor Pope Benedict XVI looked on at the ceremony, the ever youthful leader of one billion Catholics continued: Grandparents transmit "the experience of life, the history of a family, of a community, of a people, sharing with simplicity, wisdom and faith itself....

- NEW YORK - It was revealed that the last remaining son of ponzi schemer Bernie Madoff was in deed still under investigation for the crimes that sent his despised father to jail for 300 years. The court appointed sleuths who were charged with recovering money for the defrauded victims have continued to make a case that both Madoff sons had knowledge of and profited from the elders massive scheme.

- HONG KONG - Yesterday was the deadline set by pro-democracy protestors for the government there to meet the reform demands for genuine democracy and the requested resignation of the leader of this former British colony. RUGBY TEAM BUILDS FROM BOTTOM UP AND FUTURE IS BRIGHT

Villanova Rugby team is an organization has gone through many twists and turns in its history. It was disbanded for a few years, only to come back stronger than ever. This year, the Villanova Rugby Football Club is on the road to a playoff finish. In our first three games, we played some of the best teams in the country. Notre Dame College and Towson are the two favorites to win it all this year. We played both of these teams, and although we lost, gave them a run for their money. This weekend, we are set to take on Lock Haven. Under the guidance of four new coaches, the Rugby Team is finally gaining respect on campus. We practice five days a week in the hopes that we can win matches. It' s a violent sport, and many of our guys gave gotten injured. There are no pads in rugby, so players face a huge risk. During a game, there are fifteen large men on the other team who want to hurt you. If you have the ball, you need to move. There is no stoppage in play. If the ball carrier goes down, a ruck is formed, and the teams fight for the ball. As the Tighthead Prop, I'm expected to get in on all of the rucks. I do this willingly, because my teammate is often at the bottom of that pile. I look out for them, and they look out for me. Its a bond that we've developed on the Rugby Team. The other players have been like an extended family to me. I'm really liking this team, and I hope that I can play on it for the next four years. Villanova has really proven to be a good fit for me. I like that sense of brotherhood, and the Rugby Team is full of fun people.

By Tyler Cianciulli

Making The Best College Choices Long Beach High School Students Explore Options

Long Beach High School students recently had the opportunity to explore more than 60 colleges and universities without leaving the doors of their building, thanks to a College Fair organized by the guidance department.

Representatives from schools across the country shared information about their programs, admissions requirements, campus life and other critical details. Students visited booths and asked questions pertaining to their own interests.

On Sept. 30 at 7 p.m., the High School will hold a Grade 12 Parent Night where guidance counselors and administrators will review all aspects of the application timeline to ensure that it is a smooth and comfortable process for students and their families. Among the topics on the evening's agenda are transcripts, standardized tests, the general application, interviews, essays, financial aid and deadlines.

Delivering an educational program that supports college- and career-readiness is one of the district's major priorities. The guidance department and other members of the high school staff will continue to work closely with seniors and their parents throughout the school year to see them through the many steps and decisions that are involved in finding the right college fit.

Long Beach High School students visited various college booths and spoke to representatives about admissions, requirements, opportunities and campus life.

The Village Of Cedarhurst Announces New Parking Meter Pilot Program

Keeping with its longstanding tradition of being at the forefront of technology and services, the Village of Cedarhurst has launched a pilot program of new hi-tech parking meters on a portion of Central Avenue between Cedarhurst Avenue and Spruce Street.

"These meters work differently than the old meters — they are interactive and dynamic and take credit cards as well as quarters, all at the parking stall... no walking back and forth to a muni- meter kiosk", says Mayor Andrew Parise. "An important part of this phase in period is to give the public an opportunity to see and learn how the new meters work. During this phase in there will be customer service representative on the street of Cedarhurst to assist village patrons", says Parise.

"We believe this is the fairest and friendliest meter on the market today and we are committed to providing an exceptional shopping and parking experience", says Ari Brown, a trustee in the village who first brought this new technology to Cedarhurst.

This new meter is a publicly available resource that can broadcast important messages, emergency alerts and targeted advertising. In addition, it supports two-way communications. Each meter is equipped with an 8.0 inch high-definition, color touch screen, speakers and microphone. The new meters can broadcast emergency messages to make the community aware of rules in effect during adverse weather conditions, in construction zones or in response to security threats. Depending on the application, citizens, village workers and law enforcement personnel can use it to make calls, make immediate contact with pre-defined hotlines, dial 911 with the touch of a soft key—even set up video help calls.

When the meter is in a dormant state, that is, not in the process of managing parking for a vehicle approaching, occupying or departing a stall, the screen could display a series of scrolling public service announcements or advertisements. When the sensors detect a vehicle entering the stall, a screen providing parking rates, instructions and payment options pops up. In the event that the mayor's office or the police command center wanted to broadcast an emergency notice, a screen assigned the highest priority—one with that takes precedence over all others—pops up to display the message.

"There are many great features and benefits of these new meters", says Brown, "but the best part is that it will not cost the village, its landlords or residents, one cent. As the Mayor has taught us, no new service or benefit should ever come from tax payer dollars". The village will collect its typical annual return of all meter collection and split the difference of any additional collections with the meter company. The meter company is responsible for supplying, installing, servicing and removal of all meters and devices. No new costs or fees will be borne on the village or its residents.

Legend has it that sailors once thought that wearing a gold earring would improve their eyesight.

County Clerk Maureen O'Connell Joins Indian Community Celebration

er local officials joined members of Nassau County's Indian community during their Onam Celebration. Indian-American residents came together with community leaders at all levels of government to celebrate "Onam". Onam is the biggest and most important festival of the state of Kerala in India. According to popular legend, the festival is celebrated to welcome King Mahabali, whose spirit is said to visit Kerala at the time of Onam. The rich cultural heritage of Kerala comes out in its best form and spirit during the ten day long festival. Among the honorees who were presented with citations at this year's Onam Celebration were Roy C. Thomas, Dr. Varughese Chacko, Venu Gopal, John Paul, Thomas Mathew, Jojy Thomas, Dr. Thomas P. Mathew and Ginsmon Zacharia.

Richard Cittadino Drives Away A 1st Place Winner At Seaside Spectacular Classic Car Show

At Hempstead Town's 9th Annual Seaside Spectacular Classic Car Show

classic Car Show at Town Park Point Lookout, Supervisor Kate Murray (center) congratulated winners of the 1970-1979 Category. Participants were judged through a peer voting system, and winners were awarded across 15 categories, as well as a Best in Show honor. Thousands of spectators enjoyed more than 500 cars on the showfield on a beautiful day by the sea. The 9th Annual Seaside Spectacular Car Show was sponsored by Merrick Dodge, Jeep, Chrysler and Ram of Wantagh and Merrick Collision and Towing. Pictured (left to right) are first-place winner Richard Cittadino of East Rockaway (1972 Chevrolet Monte Carlo), Supervisor Kate Murray and third-place winner Drew Olson of West Islip (1970 Dodge Challenger).
