Meeting Notes from January Meeting

Dan DeBono is running as the Republican Candidate for the 3rd Congressional District. He is a lifelong resident of Northport a graduate of the Northport School District, a graduate of Holy Cross College in Worcester, Massachusetts and he was a Navy Seal. Upon his return to civilian life, Dan attended the University of Chicago's Graduate School of Business and earned a Master's Degree in Business Administration with High Honors, with a concentration in finance.

He worked in finance and investing for two decades, first as a banker advising some of the world's largest media and telecommunications companies, and then as an institutional investor for public pension funds, university endowments, and other institutions and individuals. Dan now runs a small investment and advisory business in New York.

Dan is a Committeeman for the Town of Huntington Republican Committee. Dan and his wife, Genieve, reside in Northport with their 2 children

Dan said he is an independent thinking Republican who believes the government can help strengthen the middle class by intelligent deregulation and support for small businesses. Dan said the present government policies favor large business. The result is consolidation of industries creating oligopolies and loss of jobs. Dan wants small businesses to get the same advantages as large business.

As a congressman, Dan plans to build consensus to address regional problems and increase accountability of government agencies that get federal funding such as the MTA. Dan is an advocate of cutting the costs of government and believes many government incentives given to businesses give a poor return. Dan believes the existing spending results in unnecessary corporate welfare and does not sufficiently fund the military. Dan is in support of better control of the country's borders.
